Sentiment Growing Against the Use of Central Park.

Towne's Plan of Locating Buildings in Great Favor.

Mayor Grant Still Receiving Encouraging Responses and Suggestions.

Favorable comment come from all sides into the Mayor's office regarding Mr. Towne's plan for locating the World's Fair buildings outside

There is ample room in the site selected by him, which takes in from One Hundred and Ninth to One Hundred and Twenty-third strets, and from Morning-ide to River-ide Parks. The five proposed buildings could be easily located on this high plateau without undue

Thus the Park would be free from any despoiling, and the visitors who go to the buildings could enjoy the advantages which Central Park affords as a recreation ground.

The Mayor and the various committees of the World's Fair are in receipt to-day of a best of World's Fair are in receipt to-day of a host of letters bearing on the all-absorbing topic in various ways.

M. G. Gillette, of 171 West Eighty-second street, sends an elaborate plan for the roofing ever of Riverside Park from Seventy-second to the Hundred and Twelfth street, together with plans for the main building, art vallery and machinery hall, and showing two miles of storage warehouses on the Hundson River front to be owned by the city, and the rent of which would pay interest on $15,000,000 bonds sold for building purposes.

This plan would give a riverside plaza affording the finest river view in the world, according to its maker, and would do away with the necessity for using any part of Central Park.

Mayor James Green, of Battle Creek, Mich., writes to Mayor Grant: "At the present our best interests are closely allied to the city of Chicago for several reasons, principally owing to the short distance between our city and Chicago." But "adds Mayor Green, "whatever city is Chicago for several reasons, principally owing to the short distance between our city and Chicago.

But, adds Mayor Green, whatever city is forsunate enough to secure the Expecition will find the Advance Thresher Company, of which I have the honor to be a representative, ready to make an attractive excitint.

Senator Jacob Cantor, Michael Quinn, Commissioner Thomas F. Gilroy, Edward C. Sheeby, James Markey, James Duffy, Brewer George Ehret, Royce McCormack, George Ryan, Thomas Golle, George Matthews and fourieen other prominent Harlemites sign a letter indorsing the action of the Site and Buildings Committee in the selection of a site.

Lawyer Francis M. Jencks, of 186 Broadwar, submits a new financial and inaugural scheme which contemplates the incorporation of the Exposition with a million chares at 55 each, and the power to buy in fee sumple all the land between One Hundred and Tenth and One linuselves and Twenty-second streets. Merningside and Rivernide Parks, except the parks themselves and the Cathedral property. Mr. Jetoks opens the ball by offering to take $50,000 worth of this stock should his or a similar plan be adopted.

G. C. Lowenthal, writes from Paris to say that he has been at the Exposition from its bebinning and will remain to its close. He offers his services to the World's fair Committee free of expense in any direction which they may direct.

A scaffolding on the fourth story, upon which ten laborers were at work, had given away and all the workmen had been thrown down, some being precipitated into the basement, a distance of sixty feet, while others fell to the street and sidewalk. An ambulance call was at once sent out and the police at the East Thirty-fifth street station notified.

Willing hands assisted the other workmen and police in resching the unfortunate workmen and police in resching the unfortunate workmen from beneath the broken timbers and debris in the basement, and in a few minutes these injured men were taken out:

James Haffert, age thirty-five years, of 325 East Forty-eighth street.

Henry Weilington, and fifty-seven years, of 503 East Thirty-minth shreet.

M. Sexton, and forty, of 217 East Twenty-M. Sexton, aned forty, of 217 East Twentyseventh street.

Fisuk Hanna, aged forty-two, of Third avenue and Thirty-second street.

James Brice, aged forty-mine, of 386 Ninth

The other five working escaped intury.

Rafterty sustained general contusions; Wellington had his right with intured; Sexton and Hanna each sustained severe contusions of the bin and breast and Brice suffered internal in-Juries.

All the injured men were taken to Bel'evne Ho-pital. COTTON CORNER BROKEN.

SPICULATOR STEENSTRAND FINDS THE COMBINATION TOO BIG FOR HIM TO PLAY.

INT CABLE TO THE PRESS NEWS ASSOCIATION 1 LIVERPOOL, Sout. 30 .- The corner in cotton caused by manipulations of the Anglo-Danish speculator, Steenstrand, completely collapsed

The bulls discovered this morning that Steen strand was selling, and down went the price of future cotton from 6.42, at which it opened, to 6.16.
At the close of the market the quotation stood 6.21.
The arrival of several cargoes from the United States at the end of the week and the prospective closing of the cotton mids at Blackburg, Rollion and Manchester, were too much for the daring speculator and he began to unload early.

A BOOM FOR BUTTERWORTH.

His Friends Think that He Ought to Adors the Speaker's Chair.

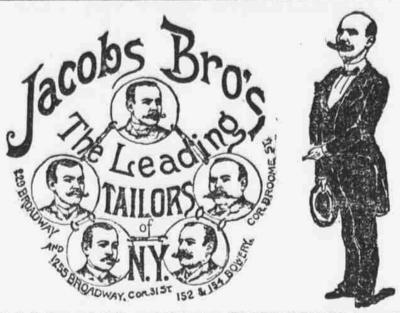

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.-A public reception is to be given to Benjamin Butterworth here tomorrow night. He has just returned from a short trip to Europe, and the avowed purpose of he demonstration in his honor is to give all his friends and neighbors a good opportunity to welcome him back. There is reason to believe, however, that political considerations enter somewhat into the arrangement. Mr. Buttersworth has very posular man, and many of his political admiters want him to stand for the Speak-rappy of the next House. They are pressing him more than ever to do so now, in view of the apparently slow growth of the McKinley movement. McKinley, they say, lacks the dash and personal magnetism necessary to carry off the prize. With Butterworth in the field, however, those qualities would be conspicuously represented.

The situation is embarrassing for Mr. Butterhe demonstration in his honor is to give all his spicuously represented.
